MEDICINAL.

Women go on, heedlessly ignoring the dangers that lie right in the path of their thoughtlessness. They neglect little warnings until they get used to them. The warnings become louder and louder, and still they do not heed them. Their sickness increases like a snowball rolling down hill. The sickness comes on gradually, and they get used to it gradually, but it ruins their lives just the same. One woman in a hundred, perhaps, sometimes acquires by carelessness, in every case, care and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will give her new vigor and strength and vitality. It will fill out the hollows in her cheeks, bring color to her lips, brighten her eyes, and make her really and truly a woman. The "Favorite Prescription" is of inestimable value at three stages in the lives of every woman—when the girl becomes a woman, when the woman becomes a mother, and when the mother becomes incapable of further duty. At these times it gives safety and strength. It is the only medicine now before the public for woman's peculiar ailments, adapted to her delicate organization by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in these maladies. It cannot do harm in any condition of the system. Its sales exceed the combined sales of all other medicines for women.

Every woman should have and read Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a great book of a thousand pages, profusely illustrated which will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps, to pay for mailing only. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

IF ONE MOVED TO MARS.

It is not necessary to consider the various reasons that would impel many inhabitants of the earth to go to Mars if they had the opportunity. But no one can doubt that the first train for Mars, or the first balloon, or the first electric liner sent out by the Universal Celestial Transportation and Safe Delivery Company, Mars division, would be booked to its utmost capacity. Curiosity alone would suffice to crowd it, and it is certain that the Anglo-Saxon race, which has furnished most of the great travelers, would be fully represented in the throng of adventurers bound for another world.

When Mars is nearest to the earth its distance is no less than 36,000,000 miles. But if we start our speed to match that of an electric impulse flying through the Atlantic cable—say 15,000 miles per second—we should be there in just 40 minutes.

On approaching Mars, we should behold a world looking in some respect remarkably like the earth, having seas resembling ours, with torrid, temperate and rigid zones; turning on its axis like our globe and in nearly the same time, showing in winter broad white-caps of snow, covering its polar regions, and presenting many appearances suggestive of continents, oceans, islands and peninsulas. As we watched it slowly turning under our eyes we could see on one side, south of its equator, a huge, staring eye-like spot, which Schiaparelli has named the "Lake of the Sun," and on the opposite side, reaching from the southern hemisphere into the northern, a great, dark, crooked area, somewhat resembling North America in shape, and known to astronomers as the "Hour-Glass Sea." And then all the globe beneath us would appear to be mapped with delicate reds and yellows and grays and blues; long waving curves and sharper indentations would make their appearance in what looks like coast lines, and presently, running east and west, and south and north, and passing, "beyond," the horizon's utmost rim, a network of dark-colored lines, like a vast web covering the planet, would be seen. These are the famous "canals."

But while we were wondering what this could mean we should be struck by another unearthly thing. Being accustomed to dwell on a globe three-fourths of whose surface is covered with water it could not escape our notice that the world we were approaching had far more land than water. In fact, it is likely that we should find that the "Hour-Glass Sea" and many other so-called seas of Mars are only part of the time filled with water, and that even then they are not like the terrestrial oceans, but rather vast swamps, choked with rank vegetation suddenly awakened to life by periodical inundations supplying moisture to their roots. Visiting them at another time, we should find only deserts with cracked soil baking in the sun. At any rate, some of the discoveries made with telescopes in 1894 suggest these things.—Harper's Round Table.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gauderman, of Dundas, Minn. we are permitted to take the extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding a Grippe. To rible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its trial and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Ely's Cream Balm, the best known remedy. The Balm will give instant relief.
